

Are you a doctor or dentist in training?
Are you stressed or distressed?

Maybe Medic Support can help

Medic Support is a confidential service specifically for doctors and dentists training in Oxfordshire, Berkshire and Buckinghamshire, offering psychotherapy and psychology.

The service is flexible, offering a rapid response and a choice of therapeutic treatment in accessible Oxford settings.

You can refer yourself or you can be referred by a colleague such as an educational supervisor, or occupational health physician.

Why this service?

Medical work is inherently stressful. Work-related and personal difficulties such as:

Workload responsibilities
Conflict with colleagues
Decision making
Relationship and family troubles
Grief and loss
Response to trauma
Emotional constraints
Low self esteem

May cause anxiety, stress, depression and unhappiness.

We know that as a group, trainee doctors and dentists often find it difficult to acknowledge that they are stressed, or to ask for help. You may feel your problems are not serious enough or that you should be able to cope on your own. Or you may feel that it's risky to discuss your feelings.

Medic Support provides an opportunity to talk through such concerns in a confidential environment away from work, and has been found to alleviate many of these problems.

It is a small service, funded by the Oxford Deanery. By arrangement it can also offer similar support to qualified doctors and to non Deanery staff in training.

What Medic Support offers
